From the Headmaster's desk...

In life people acquire formal knowledge through agencies like school, colleges and universities. There is a different type of knowledge that is usually referred to as "general knowledge". General knowledge is obtained informally and is not limited by a curriculum. It is very important that people acquire a broad general knowledge – the broader the better.

A person with a broad general knowledge is usually a more interesting person to talk to and listen to. They are usually more competent in social contexts. They are often able to relate better to people and to make friends easier.

Please encourage your children to be interested in the world at large.

Helpful Hints

Limit the amount of time spent with computer games and encourage your children to view documentary type programs and programs with educational value.

School Notices

- Starting on Monday, 27th October – we are going to require that our junior primary children who are waiting to be picked up at 13h40, must wait on the lawn in front of Mrs van Niekerk's class. A teacher will be on duty from Monday to Thursday to see that they are playing safely. Parents arriving after 13h10 will be able to collect their children from there. This is being done to increase safety on the campus.

Sports and Arts

- On Wednesday we attended the Johannesburg North West Chess prize giving. Our team came second in the Mixed B section. Taine Mitchley is to be congratulated on winning the prize for the best board two player.
- Congratulations to Shani Maré on receiving two Gold Awards at the National Eisteddfod Academy for Visual Arts Painting in Grade 7.

We have a number of excess self-propagated plants in the school nursery that need a home. Several varieties of Plectranthus (an indigenous shade loving filler plant) are available to parents at very competitive prices. The proceeds of the sales will go to Tsholofelo Children's Home. This will also assist us with creating space for new plants under propagation for the school gardens. Please speak to Yvette on 083 890 9061 to view the plants at the school.
